

22 / 9 / 09

My dear Kellner

Only today did I get your card of two days ago. I've been "budgeting" all over the country for many weeks.

Now, can you come down here & dine with me tomorrow (Thursday) at 7.30? Do; & we can have a chat at leisure. I've never had the grace to thank you for your book, with all its kind references. I had meant to discuss some things in it with you; but the hours fly past

"But each day brings its petty dust
Our soon-shedded souls to fill;
And we forget because we must
And not because we will"

— author? You're sure to know.

Auf wiedersehen

Yours ever

J. Robertson